"Context has bolstered our corporate, financial, and scientific efforts over the past two quarters. We've grown our R&D and operations teams, reported positive data on lead product candidate onapristone extended release ("ONA-XR") in early breast cancer, and closed on a $31.25M private placement, which combined with our IPO, extends our cash runway into 2024," said Martin Lehr, CEO of Context Therapeutics. "We've set our sights on another exciting year as we work to realize the potential of our pipeline to advance treatments for women's cancers. We're looking forward to preliminary data from several of the ONA-XR Phase 2 clinical trials in 2022 and announcing our Claudin 6 x CD3 bispecific antibody clinical candidate for ovarian and endometrial cancers."

Fourth Quarter 2021 and Recent Corporate Highlights

Pipeline Updates

- In March 2022, announced the acceptance of five abstracts that highlight new preclinical data on ONA-XR and Claudin 6 (CLDN6) programs that will be presented at the American Association for Cancer Research Annual Meeting (AACR) 2022, taking place April 8-13 in New Orleans, LA. Details about the presentations can be found here. On Wednesday, April 13, 2022, at 11 a.m. ET, Context will host an investor R&D webinar with the Company's management team and AACR presenters to discuss the results from these presentations. - Additionally in 2022, the Company anticipates selecting a candidate to support IND-enabling studies for its second clinical program, an anti-CD3 x anti-CLDN6 antigen bispecific monoclonal antibody (bsAb) intended to redirect T-cell-mediated lysis toward malignant cells expressing CLDN6.
- In December 2021, announced data from a window-of-opportunity clinical trial of ONA-XR in postmenopausal patients with progesterone receptor positive (PR+) early breast cancer that demonstrated ONA-XR significantly increased suppression of tumor cell proliferation. The data was presented during the 2021 San Antonio Breast Cancer Symposium.
- Enrollment continues in three Phase 2 clinical trials and one Phase 1b/2 clinical trial of ONA-XR including first line \(1L\) ER+, PR+, HER2- metastatic breast cancer \(MBC\), second or third line \(2L/3L\) ER+, PR+, HER2- MBC, PR+ granulosa cell tumor of the ovary, and PR+ recurrent endometrial cancer. Context expects to report preliminary data from the 1L ER+, PR+, HER2- MBC and PR+ recurrent endometrial cancer clinical trials in mid-2022 and preliminary data from the 2L/3L ER+, PR+, HER2- MBC, and PR+ granulosa cell tumor of the ovary clinical trials in the second half of 2022.

- Acquired in-process research and development expense was $3.1 million for 2021 which reflects the fair value of consideration paid/issued under a collaboration and license agreement for the development of CLDN6.
- Research and development (R&D) expenses were $3.8 million for 2021, as compared to $1.6 million for the same period in 2020. The increase in R&D expenses was primarily driven by increased preclinical and clinical costs related to our ONA-XR and CLDN6 programs.

- General and administrative (G&A) expenses were $3.6 million for 2021, as compared to $0.9 million for the same period in 2020.
